Night Riders Ruining Chances of Society of Equity.

An armed and masked body of men captured Hopkinsville Saturday morning about 2 o'clock, and, after severing connection with the outside world and holding the police and firemen captives, set fire to three tobacco warehouses, one belonging to the trust, one independent, and a third containing Association tobacco. All three were destroyed. The invaders brutally beat a buyer for the trust and shot and perhaps fatally wounded a brakeman on the Louisville and Nashville railroad, who was trying to save a burning car. A posse followed the raiders and fought a running battle with them. Acting on an appeal from the officials of the city, Gov. Beckham ordered one company of State militia to the scene. Two of the raiders may have been wounded, one by a citizen of Hopkinsville who fired into the crowd, and the other in the battle with the posse.

When the news from Hopkinsville reached Louisville at noon Saturday, representatives of the fire insurance companies began to get into communication with home office at once. The State Board of Kentucky and Tennessee Fire Underwriters held the first of a series of meetings, and the question of insurance on tobacco barns was seriously considered. Representatives in Louisville cannot make any predictions as to the actions which the home companies will advise, nor can they discuss what action the State Board will take at its meetings. It has been said during the past month that it would be best during the tobacco war to cancel all insurance on the weed in Kentucky and refuse to accept any more. A banker in Louisville, who is in close touch with tobacco insurance in Kentucky expressed the hope that the companies would not decide to cancel their insurance on the barns. He feared, he said, that if this action was taken the banks would have to close the tobacco loans, and that would seriously embarrass the financial situation in the State.

Fine Stock Killed By Night Riders

Every head of stock on the farm of Pearl Wilhoit, a tobacco grower, residing near Monterey, in Owen county, was killed Friday night by night riders because Wilhoit had disobeyed their warnings not to ship his tobacco nor to sell it to the American Tobacco Company, but to place it in the pool. He found 10 large hogs dead, lying piled one on the other. In another field was a dead cow, and in still another field two dead horses.

Woodford's Answer in Howard's Contest Case.

Some ten days ago Judge H. C. Howard, the defeated Republican candidate for Representative, filed contest notice on Hon. J. Hal Woodford, the Democratic candidate, making general charges of fraud and corruption against the Democrats. Mr. Woodford late Saturday afternoon filed his answer and the following counter charges:

First—He charges and will offer to prove that five or six negroes under 21 years of age and enrolled on the common school list as being under 21 years of age in Clintonville Precinct No. 1, were illegally voted for contestant.

Second—That a large number of illegal votes were cast for contestant in the remaining precincts of Bourbon county.

Third—That the ballot box from Paris Precinct No. 5 was on the night of the election, and after the election, brought to the office of the County Clerk and the ballots were unsealed and loose in the box and in great disorder; and that in this Precinct No. 5 a majority of 83 votes was returned for contestant; and because of the great irregularities above referred to, and said Precinct No. 5 ought not be counted.

Fourth—That contestant has lived all his life in North Middletown precinct No. 2, and has on many occasions and in different ways befriended many of the colored voters who generally vote the Republican ticket, but who voted for contestant out of gratitude as against contestant with whom they had but a passing acquaintance.

Fifth—That there exists and has existed for several years two factions in the Republican party of Bourbon county; that the contestant is the leader of one of those factions, and that the leader of the remaining Republican faction in Bourbon county, had, prior to the election, instituted libel suits against contestant, and various members of the Republican Committee of Bourbon county, and had recovered judgment against some of the Republican Committee of Bourbon county for passing resolutions reflecting upon his Republicanism, and that three of the Republican Committee of Bourbon county had been placed in jail under writs which were issued on said judgments a few days prior to the election, and that great feeling had been stirred up between the factions in Bourbon county; and that the leader of the opposing Republican faction, who has many friends and supporters in the Republican party, and who is a man of wide influence in his party, openly announced his opposition to contestant; and that said contestant, H. Clay Howard, was not in a position to command, and could not command, the ordinary strength of his party in Bourbon county.

Signed: J. HAL WOODFORD.
